

NIKOLAS CAT MISSION REPORT

ENTRY 1 – September 2103

Finally, I integrated the research team for SOUL investigation. It's been 5 years since I started working on the metaverse along side EXolotl MÜÜSKE, but as a basic computer-science engineer. Only the people EXolotl trusts the most can help her with SOUL experiments, and now I'm one of this people.

What they don't know is that, for all this time, I'm an undercover agent of the government. My goal isn't to sabotage the project or anything, but to collect as many data as possible to reveal it when the time is right. EXolotl really wants to keep all the process to understand SOUL very confidential because it reaches the limits of morality, indeed a lot of innocent people died during experiments.

I'm still a rookie in the team so I'll don't have access to all the database, but I'll just wait patiently, and it'll be fine...

ENTRY 2 – December 2104

I collected all the data shared between all scientist of the team, but the most interesting data is hidden between password-protected directories. I have some hacking skills, but I can't just throw a brute-force attack otherwise I would be instantly kicked of the research team. I need to find these passwords without going for any cyber-attack.

For now, I found only one password : the one for Jeff Brainoz private directory on its personal computer : "ihatenikolas" (thanks man 😏).

I keep searching for other passwords but for instance, this Jeff keeps surveilling me, I don't know when I did something suspicious before his eyes, but this dude won't let me breath. It's getting harder to fulfill my true mission...
